What we do

Accounting and auditing

Our major activity is to perform audits and prepare reports for financial purposes for both publicly held and privately owned concerns. This includes the preparation of management control reports and management information services. For companies not having their own full time accounting personnel, the firm offers a full computerized accounting service.

Tax service

With a view to identify the best solution to our clients' problems, we offer a wide range of advice regarding personal and corporate income tax, both at a national and municipal level. These services cover tax planning and the actual preparation and settlement of tax returns.

Management advisory services

We have always aimed at establishing close and longstanding relationships with clients in order to assist them in solving entrepreneurial problems in depth.

Services are offered in the following areas:

- human resources management, including staffing and salary studies
- organization and methods, which includes the design, development and actual implementation of instruction manuals and operational procedures and system manuals
- design, development and implementation of cost accounting systems and procedures.

Other services

Other services offered to clients are law advice on mergers and acquisitions, expert advice on company valuations, as well as assistance with the formation and starting up of companies. Expert advice on such matters as evaluations of EDP systems can also be provided.

We are also registered to do work both with the Interamerican Development Bank and the US Agency for International Development (USAID).

What we have to say

“We are committed to our clients, striving to meet their needs and exceed their expectations. Our proactive attitude sets out apart from other professional firms.”
