

Sub-Saharan Africa

Fast facts

Who we are

Our sub-Saharan Africa network, which comprises eight member firms, is ideally positioned to facilitate clients' expansion plans in these countries.

Dating back to the last century, sub-Saharan Africa, with its wealth of mineral and natural resources, has attracted the interest of foreign investors worldwide.

Where we are

In sub-Saharan Africa there are Grant Thornton member firms in Botswana, Kenya, Mauritius, Mozambique, Namibia, South Africa, Uganda and Zambia.

How we work

We approach all assignments by combining international experience with local business and technical expertise. We work alongside the Grant Thornton member firm in South Africa which is a major force in the sub-Saharan Africa network. We pride ourselves on having a partner led service for all our clients.

What we do

We offer a broad spectrum of accounting and business advisory services, high level skills and expertise, operating models and technology. We add value through our partners' personalised, hands on approach and availability.

We also have access to a global pool of best practice methodologies and knowledge resources. The close working relationships between all members firms worldwide, and first hand knowledge of the respective countries in which member firms operate, is also an advantage to our clients.
